Sir Terry has created many wonderful and original characters, from Granny Weatherwax to the Unseen University's Librarian, but Discworld's Death is one of the most appealing. When the Auditors hand him a little gold timekeeper (with not much time left on it) he gathers up his scythe, mounts Binky, and sets off for new experiences.

This is arguably one of Sir Terry's most poignant Discworld novels - to me at least. It's the one that firmly sets Death centre stage. He's appeared of course in earlier Discworld novels, Mort, most notably - but it's Reaper Man that identifies Death as one of the greatest Discworld characters -
